PERSONAL DATA PROCESSING POLICY

1. Purpose and objective of Policy

This policy describes how EUROCERT processes your personal data.

The objective of this Policy is to describe:

- the purpose we process personal data and the legal basis,
- the categories of personal data we collect,
- the categories of data subjects,
- the period for which the personal data will be stored,
- the categories of recipients of personal data,
- the rights of data subjects,
- if we intend to transfer personal data to a third country or to an international organisation,
- the existence of automated decision-making, including profiling.

2. Policy and responsibilities

We pledge to keep this policy for the processing of personal data under regular review to ensure that it is updated and accurate. Changes in this policy will apply to data collected from the date of the revised version and to the existing data we keep.

Responsible for the review of this policy is the Personal Data Officer. Responsible for the approval of the Policy is the Top management.

3. Contact Details of controller

The EUROCERT is the controller of the personal data. There are a number of different ways you can contact us, you can call, mail, send fax or/and send a letter to postal address.

- The personal data obtained during the audit / inspection in the inspected organizations such as employee data, suppliers, customers or the inspected organization and data in legal documents of the organization.

6. Principles relating to processing of the personal data

For each processing of personal data carried out by the EUROCERT, the processing is governed by the following principles:

- Principle of lawfulness, fairness and transparency
The data are processed lawfully, fairly and in a transparent manner with respect to the data subject.
- Principle of purpose limitation
The data collected for specified, explicit and legitimate purposes and not further processed in a manner that is incompatible with those purposes.
- Principle of data minimization
The data are adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary in relation to the purposes for which they are processed.
- Principle of accuracy
The data are accurate and, where necessary, updated.
- Principle of storage limitation
The data kept in a form which permits identification of data subjects for no longer than is necessary for the purposes for which the personal data are processed.
- Principle of integrity and confidentiality
The data are processed in a manner that ensures appropriate security of the personal data, including protection against unauthorised or unlawful processing and against accidental loss, destruction or damage, using appropriate technical or organisational measures.

EUROCERT is responsible and is able to demonstrate compliance with the above principles, Principle of accountability.

7. Design Services

EUROCERT taking into account the state of the art, the cost of implementation and the nature, scope, context and purposes of processing as well as the risks of varying likelihood and severity for rights and freedoms of natural persons posed by the processing, implements the appropriate technical and organisational measures, both at the time of the determination of the means for processing and at the time of the processing itself, which are designed to implement data-protection principles, such as data minimisation, in an effective manner and to integrate the necessary safeguards into the processing in order to meet the requirements of the GDPR and protect the rights of data subjects.

This requirement applies to the range of data collected, the degree of processing, the storage period and accessibility. In particular, these measures ensure that, by definition, personal data are not made accessible to an indefinite number of individuals.

8. Rights of data subject

According to the data protection legislation, you have rights which you can exercise as a data subject. These rights are:
